Herbal Medicine

THROUGH HERBS TO WHOLENESS

HERBAL CONSULTATIONS:

Herbal consultations are available with both Stella and Dylan. Using herbs from both Western and Eastern herbal traditions, medicines are uniquely formulated to specifically suit the needs of each individual.

REGENERATIVE NUTRITION:

Nutritional advice is needed more than ever, as modern agricultural practices and food technology has combined to have a disastrous impact on the nutritional value of much of the food that we eat in the Western world. Consequently, there is an increasing need to be more aware of foods that we should avoid along side those that we specifically need to supply the body's essential nutrition. We stock a range of Herbal teas & tablets, Essential Fatty Acids, Vitamins & Minerals, Glyconutrients & Superfoods.

NES SCAN OF HUMAN BODY FIELD

The clinic is pleased to have the facility of the latest version of the Nutri-Energetic Systems scanner. This state of the art device uses the latest insights in quantum physics to investigate the functional integrity of the human body field. Rectifying any imbalances found is an important part of the healing process. Specific remedies called infoceuticals can be selected to correct any imbalances found.

NES scans are available for those people without a specific health issue in order to learn how best to preserve their well being.

STELLA BYRNE, BSc (Hons), MNIMH,

Stella has been a practicing Medical Herbalist for more than 30 years, since qualifying with the National Institute of Medical Herbalists. Additionally, Stella holds an honours degree in microbiology from Sussex University. She is also an experienced in counseling, having been Psychosynthesis practitioner for more than a decade.

Stella is skilled in iridology, having studied with the British School of Iridology, in Cambridge. Stella is a well known television presenter in Wales, having made numerous TV appearances. In particular she co-presented The Welsh Herbal for the BBC. She has had an enormous amount of experience in treating the mining communities of South Wales, as well as living and working amongst the agricultural communities, where she was also a well known conservationist. She has developed a compassionate and caring approach to her herbal treatment and is noticed for her insight and sensitivity in caring for the people who come to her.

DYLAN WARREN-DAVIS, MNIMH,

Dylan is a second generation herbalist who has been a practising Medical Herbalist for over 30 years, since qualifying as a prize winning student with the National Institute of Medical Herbalists. He has practiced in London, Oxford, Chichester, New South Wales and Llandeilo.

Dylan has also been involved in his own research into the philosophical and metaphysical foundations of the European herbal tradition. He has presented his work to colleagues at seminars and conferences in the U.K. and Australasia, and also gives private tuition. He is experienced with autism and other developmental disorders in both adults and children.

In May 2009 Stella & Dylan wrote and published "A Welsh Herbal - a herbal journey through the culture and places of Wales." Following interest in the herbal, Stella and Dylan have been invited to act as herbal consultants to the Myddfai village community regeneration project, helping them develop a range of herbal products and build upon the herbal tradition of the legendary "Physicians of Myddfai."
